Elizabeth Blackwell
First American Woman Doctor

A Lady Alone. Elizabeth Blackwell: First American Woman Doctor is a one-woman play about the first woman to graduate from medical school in the United States and the first female doctor of medicine in the modern era. She was a social activist who strived to better the lives of women and children.

N. Lynn Eckhert, MD, travels for Harvard International, opening medical schools in third world countries in a manner similar to that of Dr. Blackwell's efforts.

Linda Gray Kelley of "Dallas" fame tours with the National Library of Medicine exhibit, "Changing the Face of Medicine." Kelley edited, produced and directed A Lady Alone.

Attendees are encouraged to view the "Changing the Face of Medicine" exhibit at UTHSCA's Briscoe Library before or after the presentation.
